NUMB. 91.

THE South-Carolina Gazette.

Containing the freſheſt Advices Foreign and Domeſtick.

From Saturday, OCTOBER 18. to Saturday, OCTOBER 25. 1735.

Paris, July 30.

THey write from Cadiz of the 4th Inſtant that an Advice Boat was arrived there from the Havanna, with 2,000,000 Pieces of Eight for Account of the Merchants of that City; and that the Engliſh Fleet on the Coaſt of Portugal did not intimidate them from loading the Galleons in that Port, that they may be ready to put to Sea towards the End of Autumn.

LONDON, July 24

The following is the Contents of a Letter from a particular Correſpondent in France, and we need not beſpeak the Reader's Attention to it. 'Tis dated at Paris the 30th of July, N. S.

'People's Heads are turned here towards Peace, they 'ſee the Wind of Pacification blows from the Cardinal 'Point; his Eminence would certainly do all in his Power 'to accompliſh it; but ſuch Obſtacles attend the Mea'ſures, that the Work yet appears impracticable. They 'talk of two or three Marriages, altering the Conſtitu'tions of two or three Kingdoms; but this Work is at 'too great a Diſtance to name them. You have heard 'of late, that the Allies have conſented to an Armiſtice; 'they tell you here too, that the ſame is actually ſigned; 'but I can aſſure you, that their Conſent is but upon a 'Condition, which however reaſonable it may ſeem at 'firſt View, raiſes a Difficulty ſo great, as hardly to be 'removed; and this is, That the Suſpenſion of Arms ſhall 'be General, where ever the War has been carried, 'which implies Poland with the reſt; and in that Caſe, 'King Auguſtus can call no Diet of Pacification, during 'ſuch Suſpenſion; and he will thereby find himſelf in a 'Situation, ſo as to be incapable of doing any Act of 'Power in Poland, which, in Effect, is not to be King, 'either in Law or Fact: This, as I hinted in my laſt, 'is in all likelihood what the Czarina will never conſent 'to, whatever the Emperor may. They aſſure us, that 'his Miniſter at Peterſburg, had very much ſollicited 'that Court, for the 3d Column of Troops, to make up 'the Number 30,000 Men, as had been promiſed his 'Imperial Majeſty; but the ſame was refuſed, it not 'being a Time to part with ſo many, when that Empire 'was threatned with a powerful Invaſion from the Tar'tars; and 'tis more than likely, that the 1ſt Column 'would not have been permitted to have entered the Eſta'tes of the Elector of Bavaria, but upon the Impoſſibility 'that Prince found of being ſuccour'd by France in Caſe 'of an Attack; ſo that the Elector made the leſs Difficulty 'of conſenting to a Thing he could no Ways prevent. 'There is nothing paſſes in the Army of the Rhine worth 'mentioning; the Troops on both Sides keep ſtill in the 'ſame Situation, and in all Appearance the reſt of the Cam'paign will paſs on with the like Tranquility.

According to an exact Liſt lately made, the Czarina's Forces amount to 200,000 Men, including thoſe in Poland and marching to the Empire, beſides Coſſacks, Tartars, and Kalmucks, who make up the like Number; ſo that the Ruſſians think themſelves in a Condition to cope with the Turks, in caſe of a Rupture, and at the ſame Time to back their Projects in Poland.

The German Infantry is ſtill at Reveredo, Borghetto, &c. waiting for Reinforcements, and Six Millions of Ready Specie, wherewith to try their Fortunes once more in Lombardy; but they are to take the Rout which Prince Eugene kept in the Year 1705, and not which they followed in their Retreat.

They write from Vienna of the 16th Inſtant, that they had an Account from Venice, that the Turks had declared War againſt Muſcovy, and had notified the ſame to the Ambaſſadors of the Emperor, England, and Holland, at Conſtantinople; and that the Tartars had already invaded Ruſſia: but as not a Word is ſaid of it from Muſcovy or Poland, and as no Chriſtian Miniſter at the Ottoman Porte writes any thing of it, 'twas ſuppoſed to be Reports ſpread on Purpoſe, and proceeded from the Refuſal given the Tartars, who demanded Paſſage thro' the Ruſſian Territories into Georgia for their Route to Perſia.

Part of the Cavalry which the Allies have in Italy being judged needleſs, the Duke de Noailles has detached 5000 to reinforce the Army on the Rhine.

It is doubtful whether the Prince Royal of Pruſſia will go to the Army on the Rhine this Year, his Highneſs being reſolved not to go, unleſs there was Expectation of a Siege or a Battle.

July 25. It is written from Paris of the 22d. that the Aſſembly of the Clergy were conſulting how to furniſh the King, before the Feſtival of St Louis, with two Millions of the Free Gift granted to his Majeſty; that Don Ferdinand Trevigno, the Spaniſh Miniſter, having communicated the Contents of the Diſpatches he had received by Expreſs from his Court, all the Foreign Miniſters were invited to Verſailles, where the Keeper of the Seals notified to them that the three Allied Crowns had, upon certain Conditions, accepted the Suſpenſion of Arms which had been propoſed to them by the Maritime Powers; that afterwards ſeveral Expreſſes were diſpatched to the North, to carry this News; and that in the mean while, the Operations of the Campaign were to be continued till it ſhould be known whether the Emperor and his Allies would embrace the Conditions upon which the three Allied Crowns had accepted the ſaid Suſpenſion of Arms.

'Tis adviſed from Mentz of the 23d, that Count de Biron, one of the Ruſſian Generals, and another General of the ſame Country, arrived there the 21ſt, to make a Campaign on the Rhine as Volunteers; that the Imperial Troops in the Lines of Mentz were increaſed to 12,000 Men, that fifty Men of a Detachment of French Troops had croſſed the Rhine near Ingelſheim, but were immediately made Priſoners of War by the Imperial Troops on the other Side, which made the Remainder of the ſaid Detachment take to their Heels.

Letters from Heidelburg of the 24th inſtant, that Prince Eugene was ſending more Troops to the Lines of Mentz, where he was reſolved, at 'tis ſaid to form an Army of 40,000 Men; that a great Number of Peaſants were ordered to repair the Roads; that Marſhal Coigny had received a Reinforcement of two Regiments of Horſe, and another of Foot, from Spire; and that he hourly expected a large Train of Artillery, with a great Quantity of Warlike Ammunitions

Count Konigſeg has met with a moſt favourable Reception at the Imperial Court; and as his Skill is no leſs conſummate in Civil than Military Affairs, 'tis ſaid that he is to be ſent very ſoon upon ſome extraordinary Commiſſion to the Court of Munich, and afterwards to that of Hanover.

'Tis aſſured that a Congreſs is to be held at Hanover for deliberating upon Means to check the exorbitant Power of the Houſe of Bourbon, and to ſecure the Proteſtant Religion, and the Liberties of Europe.

On Wedneſday next will be held a Grand Council at Kenſington, when the Parliament, which ſtands prorogued to Thurſday next, will be further prorogued for about Six Weeks.

July 29. Letters from Lizbon, dated the 15th Inſtant, N. S. mention a Ship being arrived there in 82 Days from the Rio de Janeiro, in Brazil, where two Ships which ſailed with the Bahia Fleet were arrived from Lizbon. She alſo brought Advice of the N. S. de Ajuda e Europa, from Lizbon and East-India, being arrived in Brazil.

CHARLESTOWN, October 24

Yeſterday arrived here the Ship William Capt. Vitry in 6 Weeks from London with about 70 Suiſs on board, who are come to ſettle his Majeſty's Townſhips in this Province Capt. Payne was to ſail 2 Days after him, and is expected hourly here. Out of the publick Prints by Capt. Vitry, to Auguſt 21. the following is the moſt ſubſtantial

That on the 2d of June a bloody Battle was fought between Kars and Ganges, by the Ottoman Army conſiſting of 110,000 Men, and by the Perſians amounting to 140,000, who attacked the Turks by a Stratagem, on 4 Sides at once, and afterwards defeated them; that the Seraskier Kiuperli, with 5 Baſhaws, were killed on the Spot; that 50 or 60,000 of their Soldiers were killed, wounded and taken Priſoners, and that the Artillery, Baggage and Cheſt of War, remained in the Power of the Conquerors.

That the Governor of Mirandola, in which the Spaniards have made a Breach, tho' he makes a vigorous Defence, will demand a Capitulation, if he has not Hopes of being relieved in 8 Days; but 'tis queſtioned whether the Duke de Montemar will grant him any other Terms than ſurrendering at Diſcretion.

That Sir John Norris is to continue with the Squadron of his Majeſty's Ships under his Command, at Lizbon all the Winter; that the ſaid Squadron is to be reinforced with ſome more Ships of the Line; and that a Squadron of ſmall Ships will cruize near Portſmouth all the Winter.

That the News of an Engagement is expected every Day, Prince Eugene being determin'd to venture a Battle as ſoon the Ruſſians arrive, or at leaſt to carry the War into another Part of the Country, in order to oblige ſome Princes to act more in Favour of his Imperial Majeſty than they hitherto have done.

On Saturday laſt Mr. Rowland Serjant was ſent to Town in Irons in a boat from Port Royal, under a ſtrong Guard of Soldiers, by order of the Lieutenant Demgal at the ſaid Fort, for having taken the boldneſs, as the ſaid Serjant alledges, to ask the ſaid Lieutenant for a juſt Debt due to him ſome time ago; but after a hearing before the Governor in Council the ſaid Serjant was diſcharged, who immediately thereupon brought an Action of Battery and falſe Impriſonment againſt the commanding Officer of the Guard and 2 of his Men, who were committed to Goal, and on Monday gave Bail to the Action

My Readers will undoubtedly expect to ſee in this Paper an Account of the Trial of Joſhua Morgan; but I can only inform them, that the Petit Jury on one Indictment, (tho' the Evidences in that caſe was thought to be very full) finding him not guilty, the Counſel for the King thought fit not to proceed on the two other Indictments laid againſt him, till next Seſſions, when perhaps another Jury will think the Evidence that is offer'd ſufficient to convict him of the crime charged againſt him, that Juſtice may be done to the Publick and their Country.

In the Court of Common Pleas on Monday laſt came on a Cauſe between Wm. Gaſcoyne Plaintif, and John Coit Defendant, who was accuſed of having made and publiſhed a Libel in the Gazette Numb. 62. againſt the ſaid Gaſcoyne, which he laid to his Damage 1000 £. The cauſe having been learnedly argued by the Counſel on both ſides the Jury found for the Plaintif 5 s damage only: And then the Court adjourned to Thurſday the 6th of November next.

The Letter ſigned Philelutheros, with the annexed Papers, are come to hand, and will be inſerted next.
